This series is a witty yet educational look at one preceptor and her two very opposite students as they journey through their clinical rotation.

The series includes 12 video episodes developed to provide educational pearls to preceptors who train pharmacy students/residents on experiential rotations. Each video episode is 5-8 minutes in length and builds upon the next. At moments throughout each video episode, two preceptor experts come in and share insight on how they would deal with each learning situation.

Each video episode is eligible for ACPE credit; see website below for specific details.
